For optimum safety, children of 12 years and under should travel in the rear of the vehicle at all times; front passenger seat travel is not recommended. An inflating air bag could cause serious injury or death to children riding in the front passenger seat.

DANGER

Crash statistics show that children are safest when properly restrained in an child restraint system appropriate for their age and weight and secured in a rear seating position.

DANGER

Do not use a child restraint on a seat protected by an operational air bag in front of it. Doing so presents a high risk of death or serious injury to the child in the event of an accident.
